

Salvatore Sardo

CHIEF CORPORATE OPERATIONS OFFICER

Born in Turin, 28 November 1952.

Education

Degree in economic sciences from the University of Turin.
A chartered auditor.

Professional experience

From 4 November 2008 Chief Corporate Operations Officer of Eni S.p.A., reporting directly to the Chief Executive with responsibility for procurement policy and control, human resources and organisation, information and communications technology, security, compensation, internal communication and the subsidiary EniServizi.

From 1 September 2005 Director of Human Resources and Business Services at Eni SpA, reporting directly to the chief executive, assuring guidance and control of the Information & Communication Technology Unit and the company EniServizi.

From 4 February 2003 head of Procurement, Services and Security of the Enel Group, reporting directly to the chief executive, with a volume of procurement of more than €3 billion.

From 1 October 2001 head of the Real Estate and General Services business unit at Telecom Italia, reporting directly to the chief executive.

From October 1999 operational head of Comparto Immobiliare di Gruppo. President of EMSA, President and managing director of EMSA Servizi and president and managing director of IMMSI (listed on the Milan stock exchange), as well as Executive President of TELIMM, IMSER and Telemaco, companies operating in the same sector.

From 1998 to June 2001, President of Seat Pagine Gialle S.p.A.

Nominated in 1997 as Deputy General Manager for Finance and Control at Telecom Italia.

From 1981 at Stet, head of management control for manufacturing. Co-Central Director in 1991 and Central Director for Planning and Control.

From September 1976 to 1981 at Coopers & Lybrand as an auditor, reaching the position of Supervisor.

Other information

Standing Statutory Auditor of Italtel, Finsiel and Telecom Italia, member of the boards of directors of Snam Rete GAs and Saipem.