

Enilive Iberia expands service station network in Spain

The closing for the acquisition of Atenoil has been completed

Madrid, 3 June 2024 – Enilive Iberia, Enilive's subsidiary in the Iberian Peninsula, announces the closing of the acquisition of 100% of the shares of Atenoil, a company operating in the service station sector.

The transaction, which has been approved by the relevant authorities, comprises 21 service stations in the regions of Madrid, Andalusia and Castilla-La Mancha. The new stations will become part of Enilive Iberia's network, which will have a total of 38 stations in Spain after the transaction. With this acquisition, Enilive Iberia has strengthened its market position in the area and has extended its presence into new provinces.

In line with Enilive's sustainable mobility development strategy, the expanded service station network will meet the needs of people on the move. In particular, the traditional offer of fuels and lubricants will be complemented by new biofuels derived from 100% renewable raw materials* such as HVOlution, HVO diesel - of which Eni is the second largest European producer - and fast and ultra-fast electric charging with Plenitude, an Eni subsidiary. The Enilive Iberia network will also offer customers access to other services related to mobility: catering, convenience stores and the professional fuel card: Multicard Routex. Regarding its catering offering, Enilive Iberia has launched the first Eni Cafés, a catering format that has more than 1200 retails in Europe.

Davide Calabrò, Chairman and CEO of Enilive Iberia, said: "With this acquisition, three years after our return to the Spanish retail market, Enilive Iberia has reaffirmed its development objectives and is now an important player in the energy transition of the Iberian Peninsula."

The acquisition of Atenoil supports key elements of Eni's strategic plan 2024-2027, which includes the expansion of the Enilive service station network with more than 300 premium stations in strategic locations in Italy and abroad.
